

Tree Inspection after Typhoon

The strong winds of Super Typhoon Mangkhut would inevitably affect tree stability. Private property owners, owners' corporations and property management companies should engage qualified arborists to check the trees within their properties and undertake appropriate precautionary measures, such as removing hanging branches, removing instable trees, guying or cordoning off trees pending remedial works, to minimise tree failure risks.